Alexander Brandon, jr., of the regular ticket was defeated, while John H. Reed, George C. Clark, C. G. Petersen, E. J. Schriver and Theodore Guerra, of the opposition, failed to "get there." The opposition take their defeat good naturedly. Leonard Paulson, jr., one of the original "kickers," said vesterilar:

We are whipped, we know it, and that's the end of it.
The only two men we elected were Rube and Goffe. The whole movement was a good-humored one and there was no had blood on either side. Our complaint against the Governing Committee was that they had ende matakes; and who wouldn't i wouldn't take their job for all the offices in the club. The result will not injure the prosperity of the club, though if some of eir men like John H. Reed had been elected they would have proved a financial power in the club.

A great mistake was made in not putting up candidates for the offices of secretary and treasurer and in opposing such men as J. Seaver Page and H. A. Rozers by boylea nominees. Mr. Page's speech undoubtedly turned the whole tide of the election, and as we only ravored the change of a tew of the governors, the majority of the members did not seem to care who was sicceted.

J. Seaver Page explained the financial condition lub and drew a rose-tinted picture of its Said he:

of the club and drew a rose-tinted picture of its prospects. Said he:

This $35,000 deficit by no means shows a tendency to bankraptcy. It is the result of a lack of business tact in previous administrations which so buildened the present management that in one year they were mable to Iccover entirely. The report shows that $82,000 kms paid for work done, material ordered and desits contracted previous to the incoming of last year's Board of Governors. Now, without extraordinary expenses and the dues raised, we shall pay off the debt in a lew years. The lears of some that the lase in dues will force many out of the club are. I think, groundless, and if a few do go there are 500 on our books waiting for a chance to come in. It is still the cheapest club in the city. There are athletic club with its smaller dues, there are boat clubs with less dues, here are swiming clubs that are chosper, but the New-York Athlotic Club combines all these for $40 a year with an element of livary and secability thrown in. It will not crowd out the poor athlete and make the club a distinctively social one, for this pairly admitted of $10 a year will, as I say, soon to yoff the debt and then what medals can be given to our stores and what matches. National and international, can be gotten up! I want to see a club here that can five intertain foreign athletes when they visit our shores and stimulate sport by competition. I cannot speak with certainty, but I understain that if all goes well for a year or two another low will be bought in Fixth-ave, and the club-house enlarged. The club already has the refusal of the property.

PROFITS FROM POULTRY-RAISING. EXPERIENCES OF THE REV. J. Y. HOYT-SUGGES-TIONS AS TO PERCUES,

The Bedford Farmers' Club held its annual meeting yesterday atterneon at the house of A. Mead Ciark, in the town of Bedford. The Rev. Lea Luquer presided, and John B. Day was secretary. About seventy-five members were present. The annual reports were read and the following officers elected: President, Hearly E. Peliew; vice-president, the Rev. Lea Luquer; secretary and treasurer, J. B. Day; corresponding secretary, James Wood; Inbarrian, Samuel B. Hoyt. The Rev. J. Y. Hoyt, of Bedford, opened the discussion on "The Profitableness of Foultry-Raising." He said in part; The Bedford Farmers' Club held its annual meet-

Some general discussion followed, but no one was inclined to put his opinion as an expert against that of the principal speaker. An exhibition of poultry was given in an adjoining building. About thirty coops of different breeds were ranged against the walls, Mr. Hoyt's Wyandottes attracting the most attention. A paper will be read at the April meeting of the club, by the Rev. Lea Luquer, on "The Permanent Improvement and Care of Highways."

ANXIOUS TO FIND A GERMAN BANKER.

ANXIOUS TO FIND A GERMAN BANKER.

There was a large crowd of indignant Germans in front of No. 320 flowery yesterday, and manylinguiries were made for the missing banker, Gustav George Wolfram. Several policemen and difficulty in keeping order. Excited German women shouted out demands for their hard carned savings. City Marshal Pienenbring carried away several desks and chairs which he had seized on an attachment to satisfy a caim of $200. He left the place in the charge of Deputy-Sheriff James Young, who had attachments on the missing property. The attachments represented the claims of Philip Findley, for $1.800; of Adoph Stagmaier, for $300, and of Neill McCullum, for $2.000. The property left in the office consisted of two empty safes, four desks, a book-case and the glass partitions. It was believed that Wolfram had fled to Canada. The amount of his defalcations was estimated by some persons at $75,000, but it was sand that he had lost considerable money in Wall Street. He is said to have carried away not less than $6,000 in cash. It is probable that he was said that he had lost considerable money in Whit Street. He is said to have carried away not less than $6,000 in cash. It is probable that he left the city on Saturday evening. His wife and two children live at No. 96 Second-ave. Mrs. Wolfram said vesterday that she expected her husband to return in a few days. He had a branch office in Walhut-st. Philadelphia. His customers were Germans, mostly working people living on the East Side. Among his victims were Poiceman Henry Hoffman, of the Seventeenth Preemet, D. Flecker, of No. 244 East Houston-st. and Laura Stubel, an actress at the Thaha Theatre, each of whom lost $400. Henry Van Alvensleben, of No. 31 St. Mark's place, recently asked Wolfram to collect $30,000, part of a German estate, but it is not known that the money was collected. T. E. Leary, a lawyer, of No. 82 Second-st., who was Wolfram's counsel and partner in business for several years, said to a Tribune reporter:

INSANE CHARGES AGAINST HIS FATHER.
Constable Springsteed, of Haverstraw, N. Y., came to the city yesterday with a warrant for the arrest of Van Eps Harvey, a young man who recently escaped from the insane asylum at Middletown. Charles T. Harvey, the young man's father, lives in Nyack and is sa d to be wealthy. He made the application for his son's arrest, claiming that the young man went to Nyack with a pistol a few days ago and frightened other members of his family. It was known that young Harvey was staying at Ryan's bath-house in Lafayette place, and Constable Springsteed called upon policemen of the Fifteenth Principle to assist him in the capture of Harvey. There was some fear that the young man would attempt to shoot some one, but be submitted quietly to arrest. While he was detamed at the Mercer Street Station he wrote the following:

SERGEANT GRANT: I ask protection, and, sir, I want to make the following charges: I ask for a warrant for one C. T. Harvey, viz: First, That he maliciously threatened my liberty, Second Traith Asthory

First, That he manifolds y threatened my dorsy. Second, That he harbors a man who threatened my life with a hatchet, against whom I made a statement with a lawyer.

Third, That he has opened my mail matter, tearing up the United States stamp and seal without my knowledge or consent. Yours, respectfully submitted.

V. E. HARVEY. In the afternoon he was taken to the Jefferson Market Police Court and there he promised to go back to Nyack with the constable without trouble.

STEEL AND IRON INSTEAD OF STONE. The Harlem River Bridge Commissioners have materially changed their plans since The I RIBUNE exposed the extraordinary contract which they had formed with the Union Bridge Company. That contract called for a bridge of stone at a cost of $2,680,000, under conditions which admitted of wholesale jobbery. The contract had not been let to the lowest bidder, and its provisions conceded everything to the contractors, and afforded no safeguards to the city. When The Tribune exposed the job Controller Loew and Corporation Counsel Lacombe joined in denouncing it, and it was generally condemned by the public. The commissioners decided under this pressure that it would be wise to abandon a scheme so expensive, and so regardless of the ordinary rules of economy in public works. They have been considering other plans and have finally decided upon a structure of steel and iron, which is to cost not more than $1,500,000. They have also indicated that in the letting of this contract they will conform to the provisions of the ordinances and the city charter.

THE MURDERER OF MALLOY SURRENDERS. A PEDLER OF JEWELRY, WHO SAYS HE WAS ROBBED WEST IN THE BARROOM.

Sergeant Grainger sat behind the desk in the Prince Street Police Station at 11:30 a. m. yesterday when a stranger walked into the station and said: "I want to give myself up. I killed that man in the Springest, place yesterday, but I d.du't know it until this morning."

"All right. Come around behind the desk and tell me about it." Sergeant Grainger wheeled a vacant chair to his side and the stranger sat down. In reply to the Sergeant's questions he said that was George Washington Curtiss, a diamond cutter, of No. 230 Pacific-st., Brooklyn. For some months, he said, he had not worked at his trade, but had peddled cheap jewelry. Curtiss was proceeding to give details of the shooting of Malloy when Captain McDonnell entered the station. He took Curtiss to Police Headquarte's and showed him to Superintendent Murray and Inspector Byrnes. Curtiss was questioned carefully and the officials were convinced that he was telling the truth.

On January 9, Curtiss said, he went to Hernon's barroom with his box of rolled-gold jewelry. Malloy and Dell were in the place and with them several young men. When he exhibited his jewelry they began to tease him. At length the young men smatched away the box. After much pleading his box was returned, but several scarf pins and two or three rings were missing. The stolen jewelry, he thought, was worth about $1. Two or three times afterward he went to the barroom and demanded payment, but Malloy only laughed at him. On Thesday morning, just after Dell and two customers had left the bur-room, Curtiss entered and found Malloy alone behind the bar. What happened between them was told yesterday by Curtiss in this way:

I asked Malloy if he was going to payfor the lewelry, and he said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or the lewelry and he said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or the said way in the part of the said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or the said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or the said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or the said "No." Then he said.

was told yesterday by Curtiss in this way:

I asked Mailoy if he was going to payfor the lewelry, and he said "No." Then he said, "Get out of here or I'll kill yeu." He reached down behind the bar as if he was going to get a pistol. I don't remember exactly what happened after that for a minute or so, because I was half cray. I had a pistol and I pulled it out of my nocket. I must have shot at randow. I didn't want to kill him. He gave a yell and started for the door. Then I went out at the other door.

Curtiss said he did not know that he had hurt Malloy on Tuesday. After leaving the barroom he went to the Prince Street Police Station to demand protection. When Curtiss began his complaint with the words: "A man in the saloon around the corner pulled a pistol on me—"he was cut short by Sergeant Allen, who told him that he must go to a police court and get a warrant if he wanted satisfaction.

Curtiss's story about the trouble in the barroom

Curtiss's story about the trouble in the barroon Curtiss's story about the trouble in the barroom on January 9 was corroborated in part yesterday by Henry Deil, the barkeeper, and by Anthony Chambers and William Carney, who were in the place on that day. They denied that any jeweiry was stolen from Curtiss, but said his box was kept from him for a time "as a joke." Captain McDonnell decided to held Pell, Chambers and Carney as witnesses. They were taken to the Jefferson Market Police Court in company with curtiss in the afternoon. There Curtiss told the same story as at Police Headquarters, and was held to await the result of the Coroner's inquest.

Police Headquarters, and was need to await the result of the Coroner's inquest.

Superintendent Murray yesterday gave directions to have Sergeaut Allen's o-induct on Tuesday morning investigated. It is not unlikely that charges of some kind will be made against the sergeant for not inquiring into Curtiss's statement. Had he done so the police would have been spared much useless trouble.

BEGINNING THE BRIDGE EXTENSION.

The work of extending the Bridge across Chatham and Centre sts, was began on Tuesday by the sinking of a pillar foundation in the sidewalk opposite the north carriage entrance. The Elevated Railway station, being right in the line of the extension, has to be moved out of the way up Chatham-st, and this new pillar is to support the station in its new position. The statiway leading to it, nearest the Bridge, will be taken down and also the clumsy wooden structure which serves to connect the railroad with the Bridge. Only six pillars will be required for the new extension. One of the Bridge trustees said yesterday that the contracts for the steel and iron portions of the work were let within a few minutes after the bill authorizing the extension had become a law. The Keystone Bridge Company, of Pittsburg, has all the work except the railing for the promenade. Most of the surface work, such as sinking the foundations for the pillars, will have to be done at night and on Sunday, and for this reason it is possible that the work cannot be finished by May 18, the prescribed limit, but it will not be much later than that date. The entire work will not cost over $15,000, it is thought. The Park Commissioners have given the trustees permission to take away the bank of earth between the Centre-st, sidewaik and the Recorder's Office and flag the entire space, which will give nearly six feet more of sidewaik room. WHO WILL SUCCEED STEPHEN A. WALKER! WHO WILL SUCCEED SIEFHEN A. WALKER!

The Board of Education has been in the unusual position of being without a president since Stephen A. Walker resigned as a commissioner last week in qualifying for his new office as United States District-Attorney, Commissioners Wood, Bell and Ferkins, whose memories in school affairs reach beyond the time when the Board was known as the "Twoive Apostles," can recall no similar instance. There can be no election until the regular needing on next Wednesday. The contest for the place has narrowed down to two candidates, J. Edward Simmons, Mr. Walker's opponent, and Gilbert H. Crawford. A commissioner will probably be appointed before the next meeting to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Walker's resignation. Amons those who are mentioned as likely to be appointed by Mayor Grace are Frederic R. Condert, Eugene Kelly and Henry A. Rogers. Messrs. Condert and Kelly have already served in the Board. Mr. Rogers has been a school trustee of the Twenty-second Ward for several years.

RUBBER MANUFACTURERS COMBINING.

The New-England manufacturers of rubber The New-England manufacturers of rubber goods have made an arrangement by which the saie of their productions can be simplified and the expense reduced. These New-England firms manufacture three-fourths of all the rubber goods made in the country, and do a business of about $30,000,000 a year. Heretofore it has cost them from 5 to 6 per cent to sell their goods. Each firm was obliged to have agents scattered over the country, and it was impossible to fix a slable price for the jobbing trade. By the new arrangement there will be only three agencies for sciling the goods of the New-England firms. One will be in Boston, one in this city and one in Chicago. This arrangement is not intended to advance the price of rubber goods, and the firms in the combination say they will be able to make better goods and sell them at lower prices than ever before. The New-York and New-Jersey companies have not as yet asked to join the combination.

The steamship City of Alexandria, on which the refugee ex-Sherif Davidson salied for Havana on February II, arrived here yesterday. He boarded the vessel just before she sailed, carrying only a small handbag. When he bonght his ticket to Havana he gave his name simply as "Davidson." There was no suspicion by those on board that he was running away from his creditors, until the facts were published in the Havana papers. Ex-District-Attorney Charles H. Winfield, of Hudson County, N. J., was also a passenger on the vessel going to Mexico, and did not even know that the ex-Sheriff was a fellow-passenger.

At the same time the "horrid" brothers of these fair dames will rejoice at the failing off of their livery and florists bits and expend the amount thus saved in quiet intic penitential suppers, with an occasional punched quarter for the contribution box when they are trapped into attending service. Rest, recuperation and the accumulation of an Easter morning outfit, that will aminibilate "that poor ereature across the aisle," now sum up the whole duity of many women. John Kreischer, a farmer living at Elment, L. L. on Tuesday night shot and instantly killed Conrad Gassner, use twenty-eight, who was employed by him as farm laborer. Kreischer had been annoyed by the depredations of chicken thieves and had bought a double-barrelled shotsun with the intention of shooting any one whom he might eatch carrying off his fowls. Each night he stationed himself inside the house by a window where unobserved he could view the harns and outbuildings. On Tue day night he saw a man come out of the barn and go into the chicken-house. Convinced that he had caught one of the thieves in the act of stealing, he seized his gun and stole out of the house. He met the man coming out of the hennery and shot at him, firing both barrels of the gun. The man fell back dead; his body was completely riddled with buckshot. When Kreischer went to examine him he found that he had killed his own hired man, who was doing some "chores" about the place. Kreischer hurried to a neighbor's house and told what had occurred. Coroner Cronin, of Far Rockaway, was informed and will hold an inquest. Kreischer went tefore Judge Wallace at Freeport and gave bonds for appearance. SHOT DEAD BY HIS EMPLOYER.

A BREEZE IN THE JERSEY CITY COUNCIL. A BREEZE IN THE JERSEY CITY COUNCIL.

The Jersey City Board of Aldermen had a lively meeting on Tuesday night. Two weeks ago, when the three retiring members of the Board of Finance, Messrs, Hardenburg, Datz and Jordan, were re-elected, it was charged that some of the Aldermen had been bribed by premises of good positions under the Board to vote for them. These charges were directed particularly against Aldermen Jordan, O'Rourke and McAlvanah, Democrats, who voted with four Republicans to re-elect the old commissioners. On Tuesday hight Alderman Reid, at a meeting of the Common Council, off-red a resolution calling upon the members of the council to pledge themselves not to accept office under any other city board, particularly the Beard of Finance. The resolution caused quite a breeze, but it was carried. Aldermen Jordan, O'Rourke and McAlvanah cast the only votes against it.

James R. Haltock, a wealthy resident of West Mattituck, L. I., attended the St. John Prohibition meeting at Riverhead on Tuesday night. He started to return home about 11 o'clock in his buggy, and had gone about a mile when he met a wagon containing two men. As he was passing them they jumped out, and while one seized his horse's bridle, the other commanded Mr. Haltock to give him his money. Mr. Hallock respondes by whipping his horse ond the animal sprang away. The two men not into their own wagon and gave chase. They followed him for four miles, he taking the road to Jamesport, not during to so toward his home over lonely roads. As he was nearing Jamesport, and when his horse was almost exhausted, they gave up the chase. Mr. Hallock had cashed checks to the amount of several thousand dollars during the day and had the money in his pocket. CHASED BY HIGHWAYMEN.

INVESTIGATION BY THE DOCK BOARD. At the Pock Board meeting yesterday a resolution was presented calling for the livestigation of the permission given to the Staten Island Ferry Company at the foot of Whitehali-st, to improve the ferry premises. The permit was given last April and was approved by Commissioners Stark and Laimbeer, but opposed by Mr. Voorhis, President Koch and Mr. Matthews have since become members of the Board, in the places of Mr. Lambeer and Mr. Voorhis, The resolution eites that the permission was given with the view to make improvements to facilitate rapid transit to Bav Ridge and Staten Island, but it is now charged that the purpose was to secure advantages for the Baltimore and Onlo Bailroad. The resolution was adopted by the votes of Messrs, Matthews and Koch, Mr. Stark being absent. When the permission was given Mr. Wiman appeared before the board and presented the reasons for making the improvements at the ferry. The great number of passengers he said that were transported during the summer months to Bay Ridge often incommoded the regular Staten Island traffic.

"We have no desire to gravit any exceptional favors to the Bailtimore and Onlo Road," said Mr. Koch, "although we were charged before the Board of Estimate with trying to get the West Washington Market people out to give that room to the Bailtimore and Onlo Road, Wa desire to have Mr. Wiman explain the matter fuils". Now it appears they are not only going to get a good thing for a small price, but they are building up storage on the Staten Island shore at the expense of the city." At the Dock Board meeting yesterday a reso

TWO MUMMIES FROM PERU.

In the office of J. Parker Read & Co., in The In the office of J. Parker Read & Co., in THE INTRINE Building, yesterday, were the mummles of a lary and gentleman of Peru, who flourshed in the days before Fizarro shattered the Empire of the Incas. These mummles were found by Mr. Read on his last trip to Peru. They had been buried in the sand back of Lima. He believes that the anefent Peruvians did not possess the knowledge of an embalming process, but that the preservation of lead bodies in that country is due to the dry atmosphere and the natural preservatives in the soil. In support of this he says that bodies are frequently found in a good state of preservation which, from the articles found buried with them, could not have belonged to the period before discovery.

The two mummles which Mr. Read has, however, are the remains of subjects of the funes, for in their burial place were found articles such as have never been made by the Peruvians since the conquest of Pizzaro.

THE AQUEDUCT INVESTIGATION. At the meeting of the Aqueduct Commission-At the meeting of the Aqueduct Commissioners yesterday Secretary McCullob read letters from Generals Gillmore and Greene saying that they were ready at any time to examine the engineering work on the Aqueduct and report what foundation there is for the charges recently made against Chief Engineer Church by the former construction engineer, ft. S. Graven. Although General Newton, the other member of the commission, had not been heard from, it is believed that he also is willing to set.

Additor J. H. Timmerman sent in his resignation, but it was laid on the table, Commissioner Baldwin saying that Mr. Timmerman was a valuable man, whose services the Board would be sorry to lose.
